What did you particularly appreciate about the instructor?

He was willing to meet and discuss course content, as well as the specific challenges that students were working through. In particular, after our first assignment was graded by the course professor, there were many lost, upset, and frustrated students in the class. Tyler was kind and patient, and set up time to meet with every student that reached out to him. He must have had 1:1 meetings with been about 15 or 20 students that week, and each student felt better and more grounded after speaking with him.

Tyler gave me really good and detailed feedback with all of my assignments. He also made time to meet with me in person so I could ask clarifying questions whenever I felt overwhelmed with an assignment or the class in general. That was super helpful!

Tyler provided additional resources for class and stressed he was always available to meet with us or answer questions, inside and outside of class. His response to emails was above and beyond timely. His technology skills are amazing!

Tyler and Penny were a great team. They were both flexible and open to suggestions throughout the semester. Tyler did a great job helping students navigate Carmen and provided detailed emails before and after class that contained clear instructions. Concerning feedback, Tyker was always very thorough and offered relevant and helpful feedback on each assignment. I know that Tyler will be a fantastic Professor in the future. His voice is necessary, and institutions would be enhanced by his scholarship, advocacy, and presence.

Tyler is always very supportive and patient to his students. He also did a lot of preparation for the class he taught in.

Tyler was exceptionally kind and always made himself available to help. He always showed great understanding when discussing concerns with the course and always offered support and help in any way he could.

Tyler is incredibly committed to teaching and learning with students. He strives to make the course content understandable and accessible. He also makes himself readily available to students who needs assistance.

Tyler is a patient instructor with creative ideas to offer. He holds much experience with research. His teaching is also passionate for the topic.

Tyler was willing to put a great deal of thought and time into his feedback and 1-on-1 meetings with students.

I appreciated the instructor's willingness to help me with my writing.

What specific advice would you have for this instructor about things they could do better?

I think he is great the way he is!

I noticed that you got more comfortable as the semester progressed. The class did too! I just want to encourage you to be sure of your abilities and gifts. I wish you all the best!

I'm not sure there is any advice on improvement for your role during the course. I wish you could've have had a little bit more of an opportunity to teach some lessons during the class so I could provide some greater insight into areas of improvement. I would say the biggest thing to remember when it comes to teaching is know who you are and how you believe students should learn. Let that, and your course outcomes, guide your planning and class preparation. As long as you keep growing and showing care for your students, you will be able to handle any obstacles that may arise.

Sometimes I think Tyler seems unsure of himself. He's an excellent instructor and I'd like to see him step into that confidence!

Tyler is an excellent instructor with a bright future! I do not have any advice for him other than to keep up your current approach.

Nothing, he was a wonderful instructor.
